DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.
- 2. Claims 2 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Fischer.

The escalator step disclosed by Fischer includes all the claimed features and in particular includes a tread 2 and a riser 11 extending downward from a rear edge of the step, the step including a non-slip surface 3, 40 of a fixed length and prescribed width mounted to the rear edge of the step; and the non-slip surface is comprised of a synthetic resin (i.e. rigid, slightly resilient plastic) formed with cleats conforming to the step tread (column 5, lines 53-55).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 3. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.
- 4. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fischer as applied to claims 2 and 3 above, and further in view of Saito et al.

With regard to claim 4, Fischer includes all the claimed features but does not disclose a serrated irregular part formed on the top surface of the cleats of the non-slip surface. However, Saito et al. discloses the broad teaching of providing cleats for the surfaces of an escalator step with serrated surfaces in the longitudinal or transverse direction of the cleat top surface (figures 2, 3, 7A, 8, 9). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide the top surfaces of the cleats of the anti-slip surface of Fischer include serrated surfaces to facilitate an anti-slip surface and provide strengthening and wear resistance to the top portion of the cleats as taught by Saito et al.

Allowable Subject Matter

- 5. Claim 1 is allowed.
- 6. Claims 5 and 6 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
- 7. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: an escalator step including the unique features of 'cleats of the non-slip surface being formed to be at a height higher than the tread' and/or 'the non-slip surface being fastened to a reinforcing plate that is fixed within a cleat cutout part of the step' in combination with the rest of the claim language is not taught or fairly suggested by the prior art.
- 8. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: an escalator step having a riser including the unique features of 'the riser having a toothed surface made of cleats with one or more grooves formed in longitudinal direction on the surface of each of the cleats' in combination with the rest of the claim language is not taught or fairly suggested by the prior art.

Response to Arguments

- 9. Applicant's arguments, see pages 3-4, filed September 22, 2003, with respect to the rejections of claims 2-4 under 35 USC 103 have been fully considered and are persuasive. Therefore, the rejection has been withdrawn. However, upon further consideration, a new ground of rejection is made in view of Fischer.
- 10. Applicant's arguments, see page 1-2, filed September 22, 2003, with respect to claim 1 have been fully considered and are persuasive. The 103 rejection of claim 1 has been withdrawn.
